

Beer

Seattle's First Beer Giraffe

By Julien Perry, Wed., Sep. 8 2010 @ 12:59PM

Comments (5)

Categories: Beer

f Share 10

f Like 10

Submit

9 retweet

0 Digg ↑

Asking your server for a beer giraffe is right up there with ordering a Rooty Tooty Fresh n' Fruity at IHOP, but Fonté Café and Wine Bar is hoping to cash in on this tall boy.

The beer giraffe is a table-top dispenser that serves cold beer fresh from the tap. It holds 96 ounces of booze and costs $32.50 -- that's six pints for the price of five. There's also an inner tube containing ice to ensure your beer stays cold.

General Manger Will Tharreau tells us there are only two giraffes right now (listed as a special on the reader board), but if demand is high, he'll order two more in time for Oktoberfest.

Tags:

Beer, Beer giraffe, Fonte Cafe and Wine Bar, Fonte Coffee