"Strong Coffee!" by EreviewsIT (7 reviews)

August 04, 2009 - Likes it - Opened just last week in the stunning new Four Seasons Hotel in downtown Seattle, Fonte Coffee Roasters newest location is a great place to grab a cup and relax.

The decor is modern and the couches and long booths are very comfortable. The staff is very nice, although very new and still learning so cut them some slack, and always ready to serve. There is a small food menu which is very good, try the breakfast sandwich on ficotia, it's awesome!

The coffee is usually small, one off roasts of the rarest beans from all over the world. The owner is usually around during the early morning hours and will tell you all about how they seek out and bring in these rare roasts. Try a single origin at least once, at $9.75 a shot it's not cheap, but its worth a try.

I know there are a million coffee shops in Seattle but this one sets itself apart from the others, the coffee is VERY strong and very tasty.

Fonte is one block from Pike Market, 2 blocks from the waterfront and inside the Four Seasons, it's a great place to get comfortable and surf the web a bit or impress a coffee date. A gerat addition to Seattles ridiculous coffee scene, or whatever you wanna call it.
